

Father Ganster Well Known Here Passes In L.A.

Solemn Requiem High mass was said at St. Joseph's church, Los Angeles, Wednesday at 10 a.m. for Rev. Ignatius Ganster, O.F.M., who died Sunday May 9 at Queen of the Angels hospital.

Father Ganster had been ill for some time and was admitted to the hospital six months ago, where he died on Mother's Day at the age of 57.

Services were held at the same church where he had been ordained 25 years ago and were attended by many from this area, where he was well known. Burial was at the old Santa Barbara Mission cemetery.

He is survived by his father, C. J. Ganster and a sister, Mrs. Carolyn J. Sellers of Lomita; two nephews, Stanley Sellers of Torrance and Francis J. Dietrich of Glendale and a niece, Mrs. Blanche S. Parks, of Inglewood.

Activities For Fleet Reserve Ladies Club Set

The Ladies' Social Club of the Fleet Reserve Association met at the VFW hall Thursday evening to discuss plans for a social gathering to be held once a month and to plan other activities.

'Mostly David' To Be Played Here In School Auditorium

Kenneth McDonald, founder and director of The Los Angeles Community Group Theatre, is bringing the Paul Green

ard Smith play, "Mostly David," to Torrance on May 19, it was announced here yesterday.

MacDonald, who is associated with Columbia Pictures, brings to this production his mature experience both in Motion Pictures and on the legitimate stage. "Mostly David" is not a religious play as the name may imply but is a 3-act American comedy, which portrays the problems of a newly married economically underprivileged American couple, who hope to offer their children a more secure future than had been theirs. How the son, David, reacts to the sacrifices made by the parents in his behalf, and where his particular philosophy of life carries him, is the theme of the play.

Sponsored by Group "Mostly David" will be presented in The Torrance High School Auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 19 at 8 p.m. It is being sponsored by The Central Evangelical United Brethren Church guided by Rev. H. Wesley Roloff.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets go toward the purchase of an organ for the Central Church of Torrance.

Patrons Named

Cooperating in and endorsing the project are the following patrons and patronesses: Misses, Myra Beeman, Mrs. Katherine Darlington, Mrs. Nadine Nickel, Mrs. Gladys Weston, Mrs. Parke Montague and Mrs. Winifred Ruppel, and Messrs. Sam Levy, Grover Whyte, Lloyd Waller, Otto Kresse, J. Henrich Hull, Dr. Don Moshos, Ed Brown, A. H. Bartlett, Dr. W. I. Laughon, John Stroh, J. G. Caldwell, Wilbur Weiss, Dr. Norman Leake, Harry Abramson, Don Carper, Dr. W. J. Neelands, William Weiss, Roger Schuyler, David Seisse, Paul Loranger and W. E. Bowen.

Tickets for the performance may be secured from various merchants or by calling W. E. Bowen at 215, the Torrance Police Department, at 400 or the church at 2575-W. Indications are that the entire house may be sold out before the performance, so interested parties should secure their tickets or reservations early.

QUARANTINE SET

Quarantine forbidding the gathering of all mussels from the coastal waters of California is in effect according to the Los Angeles county health department. Communicable disease inspectors of the Department have placed placards along the coastal shores of the County calling attention to the quarantine and warning the public of the danger of fatal poisonings which may result from eating mussels during the period from May to Oct. 31.

EXPERT URGES ALL TO WATER TREES IN HOME PLOTS NOW

Fear was expressed yesterday because over watering can kill roots. Rainfall has been short for two winter seasons, he said. As a result no water has soaked deep for two years. Large trees will have used about all the water they can get from their lower root zone.

"This year's rainfall has only wet the top for two to three feet in most soils. This is not enough for all summer, and trees will undoubtedly go dry, drop their leaves, and large parts of the tops will die," Kimball said. The remedy he advises is irrigation.

"Get water on now before hot weather. It is then that all the roots must be able to get water from the soil. Don't tease a big tree by putting a six or eight-foot basin around the trunk and soaking it heavily. That's not where the roots are. They are out 50 to 75 feet in all directions. When it rains all the soil is wet. To substitute irrigation for rainfall, you should wet all that area. Maybe you'll need to irrigate your neighbor's yard. And," he adds, "It's better to do it now before hot weather." Don't Overdo "Trees with roots under lawns or ornamental plantings may have plenty because you've been watering the grass and the shrubs." "Irrigate thoroughly now. That will take the place of the rain. Then do as you have before for the rest of the summer. Don't repeat the soakings or you'll be overdoing it."
